ABOUT ME

I help you connect with your next international experience

From a very young age I was interested in audiovisual production, the creation of multimedia content, storytelling and creative development, which must be why I studied communications. One day I grabbed my cell phone and started recording vlogs about my travels. The experience of meeting different people, visiting new places, exchanging traditions and culture is something that always makes me excited. I believe that traveling is one of the best ways to educate yourself because you get out of your comfort zone, experience different contexts and get to know different realities that in the end become an enriching experience. In the last 4 years I have been researching and collecting information in a solid and in-depth way based on my networking and professional and personal experience within the processes of various international exchange programs directly and indirectly so that you are clear about the steps you must follow to reach the destination of your choice.
